Profit margins are thin.	Business radios help make workers more productive.
Getting more done with fewer workers.	Through constant contact, mobilized workers stay on task.
Workers carry many tools on the job.	Durable, lightweight and easy to use, business two-way radios clip on the tool belt for hands-free portability.
High tech tools, now common on the job site.	Important components of the high tech revolution. Now a foreman can communicate separately with crews laying foundation, crane operators, or an on-site security guard.
